SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 3506(c)(2)(A) of the Paperwork Reduction Act requires each agency "to provide notice * * * and otherwise consult with members of the public and affected agencies concerning each proposed collection of information * * *." Agencies must specifically solicit comments to: (a) evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the agency to perform its duties, including whether the information is useful; (b) evaluate the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information; (c) enhance the quality, usefulness, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) minimize the burden on the respondents, including the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology.

The Department of the Interior (DOI) is the department within the Federal Government responsible for matters relevant to mineral resource development on Federal and Indian Lands and the Outer Continental Shelf (OCS). The Secretary of the Interior (Secretary) is responsible for managing the production of minerals from Federal and Indian Lands and the OCS; for collecting royalties from lessees who produce minerals; and for distributing the funds collected in accordance with applicable laws. MMS performs the royalty management functions for the Secretary.

Cooperative agreements benefit both MMS and the State or Tribe involved by helping to ensure proper product valuation, correct and timely production reporting, and correct and timely royalty payment through the application of an aggressive and comprehensive audit program. To be considered for a cooperative agreement, States and Tribes must comply with the regulations at 30 CFR part 228 by submitting a request to the Director, MMS, and preparing a proposal detailing the work to be done. While working under a cooperative agreement, the States and Tribes must submit quarterly vouchers to claim reimbursement for the cost of eligible activities.

We have cooperative agreements with seven Indian Tribes and ten States. Burden estimates for participants include application preparation, voucher preparation each quarter, and submission of an annual work plan and budget. We estimate that the total annual burden for participants in performing cooperative agreements is 1,224 hours.

Notice of Inventory Completion for Native American Human Remains in the Possession of the Carnegie Museum of Natural History, Pittsburgh, PA

AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice.

Notice is hereby given in accordance with provisions of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), 43 CFR 10.9, of the completion of an inventory of human remains in the possession of the Carnegie Museum of Natural History, Pittsburgh, PA.

A detailed assessment of the human remains was made by Carnegie Museum of Natural History professional staff in consultation with representatives of the Pawnee Indian Tribe of Oklahoma.

In 1899, human remains representing one individual were sold by Thomas Howell Richards of Bunker Hill, IL to the Carnegie Museum of Natural History. No known individual was identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

During the 1890s, Mr. Richards visited several reservations "in Dakota", and purchased a large collection of primarily Sioux materials during that time, of which these human remains are a part. Mr. Richard's information identifies these human remains (a scalp lock) as "Scalp lock taken by Running Bull (Sioux) from Pawnee Indian (sic) in the last battle between those nations." Consultation with representatives of the Pawnee Indian Tribe of Oklahoma indicates this battle was probably at Massacre Canyon near Trenton, NE. No evidence exists to contradict this information.

Based on the above mentioned information, officials of the Carnegie Museum of Natural History have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(1), the human remains listed above represent the physical remains of one individual of Native American ancestry. Officials of the Carnegie Museum of Natural History have also determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (e), there is a relationship of shared group identity which can be reasonably traced between these Native American human remains and the Pawnee Indian Tribe of Oklahoma.

This notice has been sent to officials of the Pawnee Indian Tribe of Oklahoma, the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe of the Cheyenne River Reservation, the Crow Creek Sioux Tribe of the Crow Creek Reservation, the Lower Brule Sioux Tribe of the Lower Brule Reservation, the Oglala Sioux Tribe of the Pine Ridge Reservation, the Standing Rock Sioux Tribe of North and South Dakota, and the Yankton Sioux Tribe of South Dakota. Representatives of any other Indian tribe that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with these human remains should contact Dr. James B. Richardson, Curator, Carnegie Museum of Natural History, 5800 Baum Blvd., Pittsburgh, PA 15206-3706; telephone: (412) 665-2601, before January 3, 2000. Repatriation of the human remains to the Pawnee Indian Tribe of Oklahoma may begin after that date if no additional claimants come forward.

Dated: November 24, 1999.

Departmental Consulting Archeologist, Manager, Archeology and Ethnography Program.
